ASICS, an acronym for the Latin phrase "Anima Sana In Corpore Sano" which translates to "Healthy Soul In A Healthy Body," was founded in 1949 in Kobe, Japan, by Kihachiro Onitsuka. Initially named Onitsuka Co., Ltd., the company's mission was to create high-quality athletic shoes to support and enhance the performance of athletes. Kihachiro Onitsuka recognised that sport had the power to uplift people's minds in post-war Japan. His first basketball shoe used innovative suction-cup technology to help basketball players get more grip on the court. When marathon runners' shoes left them with painful blisters, he introduced smart air-flow technology, increasing ventilation and lessening inflammation.
